

Crossing the Stargate

World consciousness has totally split itself into two different realities. There is the reality of love, compassion, abundance, servitude and life and then there is the reality of fear, greed, poverty, slavery and war. Each is in direct opposition to the other. The media projects the latter reality which most benefits its creators. But the universe continues to project the former, the deeds of the Christed One, which define spiritual reality. In which consciousness do you reside? Is it spiritual or material?

The Maya create their own consciousness. With it comes an understanding of what is important and what will move spirit. Western capitalism has created a consciousness of materialism that manifests as a stark reality of either having or not having; that is, accumulation and ownership of material goods vs. self-containment through spirit. But the universe is ever changing and ever moving, and freedom can only be found by the nomad wanderer, who has accumulated little, is self-contained, and is free to move with spirit. Christ was a nomad.

The XMAS spirit is about opening our hearts, not opening our pocketbooks. You'd never know it, however, with all the commercialism involved, which is meant to tug at our heart strings to open our purse strings. But the Christed One wanted us to rise above the physical and the mundane. And contrary to those who are literalists, that meant rising above the material trappings during our lifetime, not after our deaths. Our current physical state is that of the walking and working dead, living in Hell. We live by a fabricated clock that tells us when to get up, to eat, go to work and go to sleep. We live our lives hypnotized by the moneychangers.

To find life, we must look beyond the material world. And that is what the Christed One was trying to teach when the moneychangers were planning his murder. However, it is also imperative to understand the "as above, so below" concept of money changing. It is not just an external phenomenon, it is an internal one as well. Your body is your temple, and your soul needs to be cleansed of the desire for material and physical goods that retard spiritual growth. If you don't necessarily have material wealth but crave it, that is as imprisoning as the physical manifestation of material wealth. So it is equally important to reject all commercialism that manipulates our physical and emotional desires for material consumption.

While our personal consciousness and the reality that prevails are currently being tested to the hilt by manipulators and controllers, there is a simple rule that will tell you what reality is your primary reality. Are you ready to give up your life and material wealth to move through the stargate and be one in harmony with the creator and all creation, or are you still resistant to giving up all the material trappings that have made you comfortable but have weighed you down, as well as the personal prejudices that have kept you behind bars in your custom built homes and temples, but keep you further isolated and in prison? Can you let go of all your life's possessions to journey through the stargate?

The test will come relatively soon. Be prepared, as you may find yourself stripped of all your material wealth and belongings, like it or not. However, those who already understand that freedom from material wealth is the key to spiritual development and the ticket to a ride through the stargate will fare better. When all is said and done, those who can let go of their fears and accumulations will have nothing to lose. But those who hang on will get swept up in the cross current and battered by the heavy debris of toxic garbage.

Remember that it is the meek who shall eventually inherit the earth while the powerful will have the sins of their deeds, wealth, and abusive power weighing down on their souls. The meek are not necessarily those with no backbone, they are the wise who do not use power, money, and will to force others to do their bidding. And they are the chosen ones who, when all is said and done, will cross through the stargate to bring the Christ consciousness and peace back to Planet Earth. Which Earth consciousness do you choose to reside in, when all is said and done?

May you and yours enjoy the spirit of the Christed One during this sacred season.
