

Spin, Spin, Spin!

Do you feel like the events of the world, the media and government spin on events, the constant barrage of opinions on these events, and your own attempts to discern fact from fiction are making you dizzy? Welcome to the age of harmonic spin! Not only are you dealing with Earth relayed messages, which are attempting to boggle your mind and hearts using lies and deceit, but you're also dealing with Pluto/galactic center messages that are serving as a cosmic wake-up call, forcing you to deal with and filter the media garbage that has been regularly trying to beat your nervous system into submission. So, in reality, while you are dealing with the spin of manipulative Earth institutions and the counter-spin of a higher galactic harmonic frequency that is forcing you to raise your consciousness and vibration, you may actually feel like your head, your life, and your options are spinning uncontrollably!

How hard are you spinning? Are you able to ride the galactic wave or are you spinning out of control?

Some of the symptoms of uncontrollable "spin" manifest as racing/raging disorders that contribute to anger, car accidents, uncontrollable shaking or outbursts, dizziness, nervousness, and sleeplessness. Other symptoms manifest as "freezing" disorders such as brain freezes or brain drain, sensory shutdowns, nervous breakdowns, impaired vision, concentration blocks, emotional numbness, and physical and mental inability to take action.

Being capable of filtering the bombardment of opposing energies and messages at this time is the key between keeping sane or falling prey to the spin of the oppressors. You can no longer ignore the spinning energies; if you haven't previously learned how to filter and shut out the negative spin you will have limited success in doing so now and with the influx of the galactic energy, you will be spinning so hard that you will have a difficult time discerning which energy to "succumb" to. But if you have practiced meditation techniques in the past you may be able to still find a focal point. I say succumb because you cannot ignore the galactic energies; either you find the center of the energy and go with the spin, or you will get tossed around until the negative energies catch you in their spin. Once you've lost your center you will have a far more difficult time releasing from the dark and manipulated energies of the Earth-bound spin. Additionally, once this dense spin sucks up the last of the energies that it can gain hold of, it will collapse and die, and the casualties will be enormous, you among them.

While it may not appear as such, there is good news. The Earth itself is actually moving with the galactic spin, which is why you may be feeling extremely disoriented, dizzy and/or confused right now, particularly if you are very caught up in the negative spin. You could be on the verge of crazy.

However, in the scheme of things, there is no better option than to succumb to the galactic spin right now because the negative spin, which is composed of the messages of inflexible, material-bound humans and the inflexible institutions and structures that they serve, are bound to the old dense energies and will inevitably falter like a dying, spiraling star. When there is no more energy to suck from the planet and its inhabitants, it will spin itself out and self implode in a cosmic drain.

Children should have an easier time with spin. They can usually detect the lighter energies and find their center of balance much easier than adults because they are usually too young to understand or grasp any other spin and it can take years before the transformation to another spin cycle takes place. Children love natural spin until they are indoctrinated with the guiles of superficial spin. It is adults who have become so indoctrinated that they lose their natural sense of balance and spin. So, be like a child and remember how you enjoyed spinning as a child; find your center of gravity and calm, release yourself from the pull of the sucking and negative spin cycle, and latch on to the natural, cleansing spin cycle. When the spinning is done, you and the Earth will be white-washed, dried and ready for rehabilitation.
